

GEO offers a complete monitoring services for the quality of air, noise, water, soil and groundwater; pattern of energy utilization; waste management; change in marine water qualities; wildlife habitat; traffic pattern and Health and Safety practices. We are specialized in the design of scientifically defensible, cost-effective monitoring programs and provide special attention to aspects of sample collection and laboratory analysis to ensure all data are valid.